

U.S. Energy Efficiency Forum in Kyiv

Energy Efficiency Seminar to Showcase U.S. Technologies

Excellent Market Opportunity for U.S. Energy Efficiency Companies in Ukraine’s Energy Sector

The U.S. Commercial Service in Kyiv is pleased to offer U.S. energy efficiency companies a timely and unique product promotion, stakeholder outreach, and matchmaking opportunity.

Explore the demand for energy efficient technologies in Ukraine

Increasing energy efficiency is vital to Ukraine's future for both economic and energy security reasons. Unprecedented government reforms, driven by the mandates of international financial institutions, are jumpstarting the demand for energy efficiency and sustainable energy solutions to support economic growth.

Commercial Agenda This seminar will showcase energy efficient technologies that may be applied in the industrial, housing construction, and infrastructure sectors. Technologies will help Ukrainian buyers identify ways to reduce consumption of natural gas, heat, and power. Examples of technologies that will benefit the Ukrainian market include energy saving solutions for manufacturing facilities, energy efficient HVACs for commercial and residential buildings, energy efficient lighting, and smart metering. Ukraine is at the beginning of its path to energy efficiency and this creates new opportunities for energy efficient technologies.

Outreach, demand-building and matchmaking opportunities

The seminar is aimed at promoting your products and services to a tailored audience of Ukrainian buyers and a wide range of potential clients recruited by CS Kyiv including heat and power generation and distribution companies, ESCOs, residential developers, construction companies, builders, property owners, management companies, engineering companies, and more.
