

Introduction

Dear Exporter,

The Utah District Export Council (DEC) has prepared this directory to provide user-friendly access to a wide variety of international business resources available to Utah firms. The following pages contain listings of and corresponding web links for the various government, non-profit, educational, and private organizations equipped to provide the information and assistance you and your company need to compete and succeed globally. We have made every effort to provide as comprehensive a list of organizations as possible. However, some resources might have been inadvertently omitted. If your organization does not appear below and you wish to be included in the directory, please complete the final page of the directory and either fax it to the U.S. Department of Commerce's Utah Export Assistance Center at (801) 524-3072, contact our office directly at (801) 524-3070, or email our director at david.fiscus@trade.gov.

With its unique social, natural, and economic resources; significant commercial innovation and business growth; diverse language proficiencies; and focus on travel and tourism, Utah is perfectly suited to be a major player in the global economy. In 2014, the $12.3 billion in merchandise goods exports from Utah supported more than 50,000 jobs across 3,500 companies, 86% of who are small to medium sized businesses.

We hope this guide serves as a resource to you as you position your commercial endeavors for increased and sustained global expansion.

Yours in Exporting,

Mark Garfield
Chair, Utah District Export Council
